NIGHT PATROL IN SAN MATEO IS DISARMED

Sheriff James J. McGrath of San Mateo County this week disarmed Robert Dickerson, head of a special night patrol at Woodside and the members of Dickerson's patrol.

Besides Dickerson's deputy sheriff commission, Sheriff McGrath collected the patrol's guns and a few blackjacks.

"I didn't mind Mr. Dickerson's patrol at Woodside," asserted the Sheriff, "but when he started organizing what corresponds to a county police department without my knowledge and patrolling other areas I decided it was time to step in.

"I hold my office under a $10,000 bond and I certainly don't intend to make my office liable for the doings of untrained men. Besides, the Sheriff's office is perfectly capable of policing the unincorporated areas of San Mateo County."

Dickerson appeared, with his attorney, before the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, Wednesday of this week, and cited an ordinance alleged to exist in Alameda County, permitting activities of a private patrol of the same nature. The supervisors, however, postponed any action on the matter until the next meeting of the board.

CHINESE PLANES BOMB LINER PRESIDENT HOOVER

Chinese bombing planes recently blasted the huge American Dollar Liner President Hoover by mistake as it steamed into the Whangpoo River en route to Shanghai. Three passengers were reported shell shocked by the concussion and seven members of the crew were injured, two seriously. U. S. Naval authorities ordered the Hoover to proceed to Kobe, Japan, and abandon its Shanghai evacuation mission. The nationalist government of China, at Nanking, accepted full responsibility and offered "the fullest redress." Chinese authorities said the ship had been mistaken for a Japanese troop ship. Photo shows the President Hoover off the Shanghai Bund; tall building at upper left is the famed Cathay Hotel.

PEDESTRIAN HAS NO RIGHTS NOW IF CAR STRIKES

As he was crossing the intersection of Mission and Market street, Thursday evening of last week about 10 o'clock, Euguene Cosonno, a pedestrian, residing on Reisner street in Colma, was struck by a car driven by William Kahle, 19, of Castle street, Colma.

Kahle was released on his own recognizance. The car was placed in the Daly City Garage pending investigation by authorities.

Funeral services for Consonno were held from the mortuary establishment of W. C. Lasswell & Co., Monday afternoon of this week at 2:15 o'clock, followed by interment at Cypress Lawn Cemetery.

An inquest will be held this afternoon at the W. C. Lasswell & Co., mortuary establishment in Daly City.

FIRE DESTROYS LOCAL RESIDENCE SUNDAY NIGHT

Prompt Action Of Fire Department Prevents Entire Destruction Of Home Building

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lowry of 8 Risel street was gutted by fire, which broke out about 2:15 o'clock Sunday morning of this week. The Lowry family were visiting in Richmond at the time.

The blaze was discovered by Mrs. S. Grey of No. 1 Risel, directly accross the street. Mrs. Grey notified Mrs. W. F. Dorn, who lives next door to the burning residence. Mrs. Dorn called the police, who turned in an alarm.

The fire department responded promptly and on arrival broke into the now nicely blazing dwelling. The windows had broken by this time and let in air causing a draft to fan the hungry flames.

No damage was done to nearby buildings.

The entire interior of the rear portion of the dewelling from roof to basement was a shambles. Dishes melted and fell in heaps. The front of the house was saved from destruction by the prompt action of the local fire department.

REDWOOD CITY HAS TAKEN ON MARINE ASPECT

Variety Of Entertainment Events Will Be Staged To Delight Visitors

With the street lights and decorations in for the three day Harbor Festival—September 10, 11 and 12—Redwood City is beginning to take on a distinct marine aspect. The festival, which will commemorate the opening of the new $500,000 deep water harbor, is rapidly nearing a finished form as the committees report on their activities.

Carnival, pageant, parade, sail boat races, outboard motor and swimming races, a monster skeet shoot, with many of the real top-notch shooters entered, and other events will be offered the visitor.

The festivities will start Friday night with the opening pageant to be held at the high school football field. The pageant will be staged again on Saturday night. The Queen's ball will take place on Saturday night at the Foresters Hall, under the auspices of the American Legion.

"Everything is in readiness for a good time for all" says Chairman Frank DePatta," and we want everybody to come, see the new harbor and have a good time.

Local Police Find Stolen Car Stripped

The local police department recovered a stolen automobile which had been stripped of accessories, on the road near Reservoir No. 2, in Daly City, Saturday evening of last week.

As no car answering to that description had been reported to San Francisco authorities as stolen, the local department via teletype to the Sacramento Vehicle Department, learned the car was registered to Miller & Lux, Inc., of Los Banos. It had been stolen from in front of the Bank of America building in Dos Palos, where it had been parked. The owners were notified and the car was removed by their representative to a San Francisco garage.

SUPERVISORS FIX TAX FOR COUNTY MORE THAN LAST

Raise Due To Increased Expenditures Made Necessary Coming Year

The San Mateo County tax rate has been fixed at $1.14 on $100 assessed valuation—1c lower than predicted but 33c greater than last year's levy.

The Board of Supervisors approved the rate at one of the most peaceful sessions in the county's history, late last week.

"We are satisfied with the tax rate and budget," said Matt Harris, head of the County Tax League. "We have no criticism regarding the increase."

The budget on which the rate is based calls for expenditure of $1,157,016.

DALY CITY GIRL TO BE HOSTESS AT FLORAL FIESTA

Winner Of First Queen Contest Submits Application For Inclusion In List Of Fifteen

It has been announced from headquarters of the San Mateo County Floral and Products Fiesta that Miss Ruth Lindorff of Daly City has submitted her application for a place on the list of fifteen hostesses to be selected. Miss Lindorff won the title of "Queen" of the first Fiesta held in the county by a large majority, which attests her popularity here. There is hardly any doubt that she will be among the number finally chosen.

Deadline for further entries in the hostess field has been set for Wednesday, September 8, by the publicity committee.

Two entries from northern San Mateo County appear sure to be among those selected for the Fiesta hostess group—the fifteen most attractive girls in the county, who will be photographed, interviewed and be hostesses during the four day event, September 23 to 26.

With the Daly City Record as representative in this area, there are still several days for girls—over 18—to enroll in the Fiesta hostess competition. There is no charge, no strings are attached in any way.

The other two girls from the northern part of the county are from Lomita Park, it was revealed. Jeanette Jennings, a lovely blonde from 233 San Diego avenue; Katherine Wilson, 100 San Antonio, a dazzling brunette, are the two.

CAR CRASHES STORE FRONT IN COLLISION

Driver Loses Control After Being Struck At Intersection By Ice Cream Truck

Coming north on the highway at the intersection with Market street in the southern district of Daly City, an automobile driven by J. W. McAlester, aged 71, 1029 Eden avenue, Los Angeles was struck by a Witt Dairy Company truck in charge of Peter Mazzanito of Colma, Monday afternoon of this week at 2 o'clock.

The impact caused the ice cream truck to be overturned.

McAlester apparently lost control of his car, which careened across Mission street and crashed into the building occupied by the Anchor Drug Company. The entire store front was demolished and the crashing car badly wrecked. The damage to the drug store building is estimated at $1000.

Neither driver was injured.

BAR SILVER IS MISTAKEN FOR PIECE OF JUNK

Metal "With No Noise" Is Brought To Attention Of Secret Service Men—Now Investigating

Salesmen at the Boulevard Motor Sales Co., hadn't been able to sell the car, but they had fun bouncing the piece of metal on the sidewalk. It was funny, it didn't make any noise when it bounced. The junk man offered only a nickel, so they kept it.

Then along came a man from the B and D Wreckers, Daly City, who was willing to take the car off their hands, and for $12.50, if he could have the piece of metal. He liked it because he said it would be better than a hammer for knocking off wheels.

Down in Daly City the wreckers showed it to Police Chief James G. Reardon. He seemed unaccountably interested. He had an acid test made, found it was a silver bar worth at least $80.

When he showed it to Secret Service men, they became excited. There was talk about the bar having been stolen from the mint, but the mint hasn't missed one. So today the Secret Service has an investigation under way and nobody will say a word.

Regghanti Pitches Shut-Out Ball Game

The local boys won, Sunday, with the sensational pitching of George Regghanti, who allowed only four scattered hits in nine innings and struck out 14 batters. George is a very promising lad and should go a long way in pitching. He is one boy that is to be watched.

The score stood 0 to 0 until the last half of the ninth.

Ed Cavagnaro said that this was one of the snappiest baseball games he ever has umpired, and that George Regghanti is a pitcher that should not be overlooked.

EDITORIAL ASKS AID IN SUPPORT NEW HIGHWAY

Official Paper Of Highway Association Prints Strong Plea For Co-operation

Prompt rallying of support for efforts to secure the remaining improvements needed to complete the Ocean Shore Highway project is urged in an editorial in the August issue of Motor Land.

"Within the past few months there has been a decided quickening of interest in the Ocean Shore Highway project." the editorial declares.

"The aim is to bring to modern standards the entire stretch of road, part of State Route 1, along the coasts of San Mateo and Santa Cruz Counties from San Francisco to the city of Santa Cruz. Efforts for such a highway now seem to be ripe for the final display of support that will carry them to success. A good deal of the existing road already has been or is being improved to the desired standards, but there is much still to be done before the project stands complete. Early action on the remainder of the improvement can now be regarded as a strong probability, provided the united support of all those interested is exerted in that direction, promptly and enthusiastically.

"Officially, the project is sponsored by the Three Counties Highway District formed under provisions of the Joint Highway District Act and embracing the counties of San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Cruz. Unofficially, it is the concern of all motorists and the general public, as evidenced by the recent formation of the Ocean Shore Highway Association. Besides county financing, state aid is available to a limited extent for construction purposes.

"The highway route traverses a region of exceptional scenic appeal. It serves a sizeable agricultural region in the coastal sections of San Mateo and Santa Cruz Counties. Modernized, it will more effectively serve many communities along the coast which now are handicapped through lack of an adequate highway.

"The early years of the Joint Highway District were beset with many difficulties, such as litigation and securing rights of way. But with hard, sincere work, those behind the project have accomplished much. They fully deserve the support that will bring their efforts to a successful conclusion."

HUMAN GRAPH LINE

VERA ROTHERY

This attractive young woman plays the part of a human graph line in the current play, "Power," at the Alcazar Theater in San Francisco. As a graph line she represents the 1913 low in the price of hosiery. The change in price of this ever needed commodity of womankind is shown in the human graph by another young woman (Arline Dodson), who represents the upper end of the curve in 1926. Miss Rothery is an accomplished actress with flashing black eyes, an enviable skin and beautifully modulated voice. "Power" is shown in flashes of light with swiftly moving scenes. The material for the play was gathered by newspaper men of the Living Newspaper unit of the New York Federal Theater and prepared for the stage by Arthur Arent, managing editor. "Power" is presented in San Francisco by the local Federal Theater group.

NEW TYPE PLAY GOES OVER BIG WITH AUDIENCE

Current Federal Theaters Production Carries Strong Appeal For Common People

That the northern California theater going public will support a new type of play has been definitely proved by the patronage of the current Living Newspaper play "Power" at the Alcazar Theater. The play closes Saturday night September 11, with patronage up to this point that will hold its own with any of the Federal Theater productions in San Francisco with the possible exception of Max Dill's musicals.

"Power" opened August 12 to a packed house. Critics scoffed in their reviews at this new type of dramatic presentation. A more unpropitious taking off has seldom been recorded in local theatrical history. The work of the actors was generally commended but the unusual form of presentation drew nothing but derision from the heads of the drama departments of the papers. And there were more reviewers in the audience than had ever attended a Federal Theater first night. They came from practically all of the sheets within fifty miles of San Francisco. Normally, bad business could only be expected. But for some reason the nightly crowds have continued.

Following the closing of "Power" the Alcazar will be the setting for the first appearance of the Federal Theater Dance Project, opening Tuesday, September 14 and continuing through Sunday night, September 19.

On September 23 Eugene O'Neill's Pulitzer prize play "Beyond The Horizon" will be staged with an all star cast for an indefinite run.

YOUNG MAN IN TROUBLE AGAIN OVER WEAPON

Injuries Caused In Auto Accident Cause Arrest Of Youth On Loaded Gun Charge

On Monday morning of this week at 1 o'clock our local police department received a report from Dr. Drees of the Junipero Serra Hospital that treatment had been tendered Bernard Leroy Pritchard, 807 Franklin street, San Francisco, for injuries received in an automobile accident.

The injured man was brought to the hospital by Charles A. Cameron, 171 Miramar avenue, San Francisco.

It was discovered that the injured man was armed with a loaded pistol, which is now being held by our local police. The ownership of the gun was traced to the father of the young man, Dr. Bernard L. Pritchard. The doctor claimed that his son evidently procured the gun while at the family ranch. After arming himself with the weapon the youth had journeyed to San Francisco for a drinking spree.

Young Pritchard, a musician, was later turned over to the police sergeant at Taraval station, and was recognized as a former trouble maker.

Monterey Peninsula Entirely Paintable

It is easy to understand why painters flock to Carmel. There are few places as entirely paintable as the Monterey peninsula. The whiteness of the sands, the blues, greens and purples of the bay, the grays and greens of the famous cypress and other trees, the profusion of flowers and plants, the ruggedness of the rocks: any one of these would justify a goodly number of canvases. As for writers, well, they usually find it easier to write where painters find it easy to paint, whether it be in Montparnasse or Greenwich village.

But neither in Montparnasse nor in Greenwich village is there anything like the incentive of natural beauty which has been bestowed in such profusion upon Carmel and its vicinity. There is probably no place in all the world which for sheer beauty can surpass the 17 miles of coast between Del Monte and Carmel, and its extension south.

Debtors Haven Is Preserved In Palace

Edinburgh's old debtors' sanctuary at the entrance to Holyrood palace just outside the Canongate gateway has been restored. In this house debtors were safe from their creditors beyond a borderline marked by an "S" let into the roadway.

Friends then fed them and the window through which the food was passed can still be seen. Recently the Earl of Rosebery presented the house to the kingdom and it has been restored by the Office of Works.

The old outside stair and wide archway with the socket into which the iron bar was slipped at night alone make it worth preserving. But it has many other fine features and is full of interest historically as well as being a good example of Scottish sixteenth century architecture. Several windows, the existence of which was not suspected, have come to light during the renovations.

The house has been furnished according to period and arranged as a tourist house by the Scottish Motor Traction Company with tea rooms, lounge and travel bureau.

How About Name Of "Neighborville"?

Towns often are named after persons, but it is only rarely that a place takes its name from a quality which some person reflects. Modesto, Calif., is the only one we think of at the moment. When this town was incorporated in 1884, the intention was to call it Ralston, after William C. Ralston of the Bank of California. Workers on the Federal Writers' Project, while collecting material for the American Guide, have discovered that Mr. Ralston modestly refused to allow the town to be named for him. Thereupon, in tribute to his modesty, it was named Modesto.

Certainly there is something to be said for this practice. How fine it would be, in driving about the country, to pass through Felicidad, and Honestyville, and Virtuopolis, and know that behind each of these names stood the story of some honorable citizen who deserved well of his fellow men.

Disappointed Dog That Crashed Gate 'Bow-wows' Medal

Dogs which came to the rescue of other dogs; dogs which saved their human friends from gas, smoke and water, and a dog which "crashed the gate" of the judges and won a medal just because he wanted one or because "every dog deserves a prize," are wearing medals today following awards on animal hero day held at the Astor Hotel in New York City on Saturday. This is a semi-annual event sponsored by the New York Anti-vivisection Society.

Ten animals, including a cat and a parrot, won the society's silver medal for heroism, faithfulness, loyalty, intelligence and beauty. They were presented by Mrs. Diane Belais, president of the society.

But one little dog seemed to have been omitted when the medals were being presented. He sat down in the front row with the heroes of the day, but his name wasn't called. He whined a bit. No one noticed. He barked gently. But too many other dogs were barking. His protest presently became a howl and then Mrs. Belais glanced down his way.

"What is the matter with that dog?" she asked.

"He's looking for a medal," someone answered. "He hasn't done a brave deed yet, but all he needs is an opportunity. Any dog would be glad to take care of his master if you give him the chance."

Accordingly "Lucky," a miniature Doberman Pinscher, brought to the performance by his master, M. Weiss, who mistook the event for a dog show, won a silver medal. His father won first prize at the dog show held at Madison Square Garden, so honors come naturally in the family.

Build Projectile To Travel To Moon

In England, fifteen schoolboys and two schoolgirls have formed the Manchester Interplanetary Society with the ambitious object of constructing a radio-controlled, rocket-driven projectile capable of reaching the moon and the planets.

Already the president of the society, Eric Burgess, a pupil at the Manchester High School, has received encouraging letters from the American Rocket Society and the British Interplanetary Society.

SEARCH FOR CHEAP FUEL

So far the society has only experimented with small cardboard rockets filled with ordinary firework powder. This is merely to provide an idea of the most suitable shape for a rocket, and when the members are satisfied they intend carrying out research work in order to produce a reasonably cheap fuel capable of driving the rocket through space.

The climax of the society's first research gathering—staged on a Clayton (Manchester) croft—came with the lanuching of the president's nine-inch rocket, equipped with multiple motors.

FIRST FLIGHT DESCRIBED

"The rocket left the launching rack with a roar," says the official report, "and turning to the east only just escaped hitting two wireless aerials. There were other explosions as the other powder rockets exploded, and it shot forward with amazing rapidity. Soon it was only a tiny speck in the sky. It reached a height of about 130 feet and landed full on the nose 250 feet from where it was launched. It was a magnificent flight."

The British Interplanetary Society is the Manchester Society's only contemporary in Britain, and both are considerably handicapped by the fact that an Act of Parliament forbids the launching of liquid fuel rockets.

Strange Elements Blend In Old Town

In old Monterey were blended two elements as different as can be imagined: the glamour of Spain and the hardness of New England. One sees this in the many houses of colonial days which have survived, and in the names which cling to them. The houses, though Spanish in plan and contour, have a touch of Cape Cod primness about them, as their Yankee proprietors intended them to have. Many of them have two family names attached to them, one Spanish and one New England. There is the Cooper (Molera) house, built by Don Juan Bautista Cooper, one of the first Yankee skippers to settle here. And there is the Amesti (Elkins) house, and the Vasquez (Hill) house, and the De la Torre (Oliver) adobe, and the Munras (Field) house. The very names recall the days when a proud European empire was fading from the map, and a new and stalwart nation was pushing out across the seas in clouds of flying canvas. Here Yankee and Spaniard met, and became friends, just as they have done again at Buenos Aires, Argentine.

"A job done well never wants doing again."

"Did you ever try shoveling snow from the sidewalk?"

ONE OF HARBOR BEAUTIES

"Will September 10 ever come," sighs pretty Achilla Yager, as she tests ropes and poses gracefully on one of the yachts at Redwood City's new $500,000 deep water harbor. Plans for the three day Harbor Festival have been completed, and the youth and beauty of the Peninsula are waiting for the carnival of fun with ill concealed impatience.

The first matinee performance of "Room Service" was given at the Geary Theater, San Francisco, Wednesday of this week, September 1. Opening to a sell-out audience Monday night, this stage comedy will continue here for at least two weeks before going on tour. The San Francisco company was assembled and rehearsed by Mr. Abbott personally at the Cort Theater, New York. It then jumped to Detroit, for its opening, coming here direct from that city.

SUMMER TIRE WEAR

Tires are subject to more severe wear in summer than in winter, it is said.

This wear is due to two main causes. Abrasion is much greater in summer, when roads become dry and gritty. Tread rubber is much less resistant to the abrasive effect of highways when it is hot.

Making Whoopee?

A young husband and wife moved recently into an attractive new home, taking with them their pet dog, who bears the slightly unusual name of Whoopee.

The newcomers naturally felt all eyes were on them and desired to make as exemplary an impression as possible. That was until the night husband and wife suddenly discovered their dog was out.

"Whoop-ee! Whoop-ee!" the wife shouted at the top of her voice as she ran down the sidewalk in one direction.

"Whoop-ee! Whoop-ee!" the husband bellowed as he tore along the other way.

They didn't realize until the next day how it sounded.—Kansas City Star.

Is Still Young At Seventeen Hundred

A 1700 year old organ has been discovered in excavations at Aquincum near Budapest, and so perfectly restored that one can play on it. It is said to be the oldest in existence.

When dug up, it was nothing more than a heap of pipes, reeds, and pieces of charred wood mixed with much other debris. Fortunately, however, there was a fairly large brass plate among the ruins, on which was inscribed in the Latin language directions as to how it should be set up and data as to how it came to Aquincum.

Upon the failure of any such corporation, co-partnership, association, individual or agent thereof owning or leasing any building or structure in the Bayshore Fire District to correct such defective and condemned electrical wiring, fixtures, apparatus, appliances, construction or equipment for a period of six days after the receipt of notice in writing from the Fire Marshal so to do which notice shall specify in detail the corrections to be made, the said Fire Marshal shall forthwith direct the corporation, co-partnership, association or individual, or agent thereof, supplying the electrical power for such connection to disconnect the same, and it shall be unlawful for any corporation, co-partnership, association or individual, or agent thereof, furnishing electrical current, to furnish or renew said power supply without permission from the Fire Marshal.

No service conductors shall be smaller than 10 B & S Gauge.

No service conduit shall be smaller than ¾ inch, and service conduits and fittings, where exposed, must be galvanized.

No special permission will be granted for lighting circuits of greater wattage.

The responsibility for the connection of a service to any electrical installation for which no certificate of inspection has been issued or permission given by this District rests on the electrical contractor, and if so proven, said Contractor's Registration is automatically suspended.

Every person, firm or corporation holding a certificate as Master Electrician, Fixture Electrician or Owner Electrician, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall, before a certificate of inspection as provided for in this Ordinance, is issued by the Fire Marshal, pay to the Fire Marshal for inspection the following fees: viz:

OUR STATE ADMISSION DAY

California celebrates the eighty-seventh anniversary of its admission into the Union on September 9.

This great state at the continent's end has traveled far since those pellmell days of 1850 when the discovery of gold, bursting upon a dazzled world, started a feverish stampede westward. Those were the days sailors deserted ships by the score in San Francisco Bay to flock to the gold fields, when signs on the prairie schooners bravely cried, "California or Bust!"—and California was 34 days from Missouri by fast Overland stage!

"Gold Made California!" says the old slogan. But that vital artery of economic life, transportation, has played an equally great part. Though one of the richest states, California is farthest removed from the big population centers. Fast transportation has been her life blood, for the speedier, cheaper movement of goods by rails has carried California's rich produce and manufactures to distant Eastern markets and brought back wealth to thousands of farmers and wage earners. Increasingly efficient, low cost rail service has been accompanied, moreover, by railroads payment of increasingly greater taxes to federal and state government. Rail transportation has been indispensable to the progress we celebrate at this time.

In 1850 you could tell the story of California's land transportation in terms of the stage coach and creaking ox carts with buttonwood wheels. From San Francisco to Coloma wagon freight rates were $1500 a ton. Today the railroad haul is $1.50 a ton—one-thousandth as much!

That's another reason this year finds California entering upon a new, well grounded prosperity, vaster in scope than that dreamed of even in the gold rush days when sturdy little prairie schooners, pulled by Missouri mules, came clattering down the pike into the Golden State.

ROOSEVELT CABINET MEMBER URGES UNITY

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

Any time Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace does any talking to the public it is well worth while to give consideration to his expressed thoughts. Not so long ago he delivered an address before a meeting of the Young Democratic Clubs of America. As is usually the case, the talented young stateman stirred up a lot of enthusiasm by his remarks.

The most significant words uttered by the hard-working member of President Roosevelt's cabinet were:

"Stepping for the moment out of my field, I say I would like to see solidarity in labor joined in a united front with agriculture. Both may then find their common welfare in terms of abundance, working together, instead of squabbling to see which can grab the largest piece of a small pie."

The secretary expects that the so-called ever normal granary legislation will be acted upon at the next session of Congress.

Robert S. Allen, well known commentator on affairs of state, wrote in a forthright manner recently as to the outcome of the struggle between the reactionaries of both parties on the one hand and President Roosevelt on the other. He finds that the "Old Guard" in its astounding stupidity in blocking all the progressive legislation of the President has put all the trump cards in the hands of the chief executive. In plain words, they over reached themselves. Allen declares that the President can annihilate the reactionaries if he has the guts and intelligence to play the cards right. And he has both.

Decrease in stock market volume is alarming a few citizens here and there, but if the situation is looked at in a reasonable way there seems to be little basis for the perturbation.

The best view is that an investors market is being established under federal government regulation. The lack of volume, according to deep students with no ax to grind, is accounted for by the reduction of pools and other manipulations. The reduction of tape advertising drawing the public into the market is also much to the good.

The Securities and Exchange Commission fails to see any basis for the opinion of Charles R. Gay, president of the New York Stock Exchange, the government regulation is tending to impair the effectiveness of the stock market.

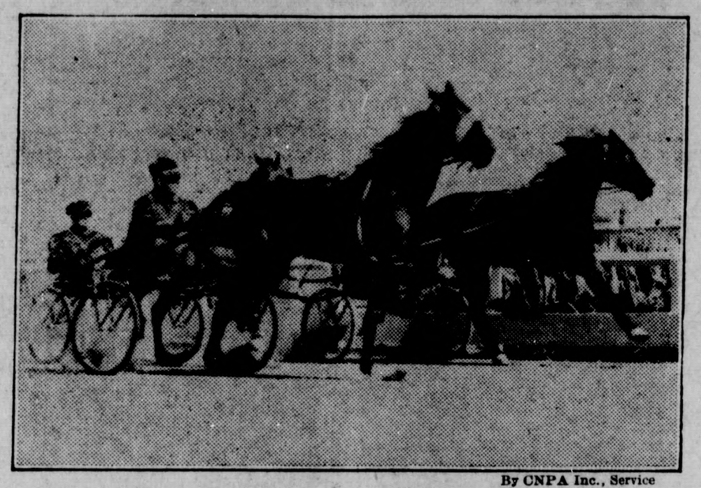

The S. E. C. has no intention of sidetracking its segregation program, according to latest reports. The commission will proceed in its attempt to separate the trading activity on the floor of an exchange and margin trading by firms handling the business of the public.

Recent estimates are to the effect the increase in gold production over 1936 will be slight. The estimates are based on operations for the first half of this year. The South African mines, the largest producers in the world, are continuing their policy of mining low grade ores that return only a small profit over costs.

Gold production in the United States undoubtedly will show an increase. A portion of the larger output will come from copper mines in the Southwest operating at capacity. It is said the by-product gold will add about 500,000 ounces to the country's output.

LECTURE FILLS VAST BUILDING TO HEAR TALK

"God Will Establish His Kingdom And His Law" Is Subject Of Lecture

A stirring and inspiring lecture was delivered in Vancouver, B. C., and every available seat in the large City Auditorium was filled, as more than 3000 persons heard Dr. Clem Davies excoriate in a scatling condemnation the financial system and its "many drawbacks."

He made particular reference to conditions on the Canadian prairies, and told his listeners "that they would have to be ready to do all in their power to alleviate the awful distress of those people who are suffering now and will suffer this winter."

"The dreams of Henry George and Edward Bellamy," he declared, will shortly be fulfilled in the ushering in of the reign of peace and prosperity by our Lord Jesus Christ.

"God will establish his kingdom and his law . . . the new era will incorporate them into schemes for the betterment of mankind.

"You can no more abrogate the law of God than you can the law of gravitation.

JAILED MEN

"The following incomes that fill the coffers of the few come from the ruin of the many, and the present system with its profiteering motive is the expression of man's lowest animal nature.

"The divine order of economics stands opposed to the present abused system . . . the theologian says that the teaching of Moses and Jesus has no economic meaning.

". . . The theologian has lifted the ten commandments, the Sermon on the Mount and placed them in the shadowy realm of the spirit world beyond the grave.

Dr. Davis received a loud ovation as he spoke of the plight of the returned men who were jailed recently.

"To jail men who are collecting money to keep them from starvation is the most terrible indictment of our system," he said.

ABERHART AND DOUGLAS

"Every judge must hang his head in shame that he is compelled to render judgment on iniquitous laws that turn men away hungry or cause them to commit crimes in order that their bodies may be sustained.

"If you ask me how the present financial system can be destroyed, I suggest that the system, elastic as it is, cannot long withstand the combined attacks of men like Aberhart and Douglas and others of similar high ideals in every part of the Anglo-Saxon world.

"Social Credit will find its ultimate realization in the divine law of the Lord in the Golden Age that is shortly to come.

"But before this comes there will be a great struggle on the part of those who are strong for this anti-God system . . . the struggle will be brief, but terrific, and in the end there will be a 'new' earth.

NO TAXATION

"The 'marketing board' of the Almighty will be so perfect that no injustices will prevail.

"There will be no taxes on produce, no mulcting of the produce of the consumer and no government interference.

"The land will be free from taxes . . . free from even purchase . . . it will only be for use . . . as was originally intended.

"Every man shall sit under his own vine and fig tree and none shall make him afraid and the sun will shine once more on the earth.

"Our children will develop and grow as naturally as the flowers that bloom in a world free from blight.

"No person will be forced to suffer the pangs of starvation because he has no money to buy food.

"Most of our present-day diseases are the result of constant undernourishment, and in the new age all this will be forever banished."

Dr. Davies concluded with a plea for the return of "good old religion."

He was bitter in his condemnation of preachers who "spiritualize on Sunday and commercialize on week days."

The people, he said are sick of theology. They are crying for Christianity and the churches are refusing to give it to them.

He closed his service with a benediction, and with Herbert Reeder at the console of the organ the audience stood and sung "God be with you till we meet again."

Later the same evening, Mr. and Mrs. Gehringer were hosts at a family dinner served at their home.

Druids In Reception To Grand Officer

Hillcrest Circle No. 143, United Ancient Order of Druids, met, Friday evening of last week, in special session to honor Grand Officer Madeliene Fellows. After the opening ceremonies, an escort team of younger members, dressed in evening gowns, escorted Mrs. Fellows into the hall to her seat of honor. After greetings from several Grand Officers who were present a short program of dance numbers from the Betty Mae Studio provided entertainment for the evening.

Madame Lombard, mother of the honor guest and founder of the circle, was also seated with her. The delegates to the recent state convention in Santa Cruz were also introduced and thanked for their work.

Many flowers and gifts were presented to Mrs. Fellows and her mother. Delicious refreshments were served in the banquet room, which was beautifully decorated.

Distinguished guests present were Grand Arch Druidess Sadie Meyer, Grand First Bard Celine Smith, Grand Second Bard Rowena Lucas, Grand Guardian Minnie Lino, Grand Secretary Rose Peters, Past Grand Arch Druidess Carrie Kelleher, Past Grand Arch Druidess Mae Lane, and Brother Bush of the Grand Chapter.

Many visiting circles were represented. Marcia Trier, Catherine Foreman and Rose Watson were in charge of the affair.

OBSERVATION OF VARIOUS THINGS IN OUR CAPITAL

Employer Wants Older Men Who Have Had Experience In Doing Things

(By Hart Goodrich)

"Too bad for the man over 40, industry just doesn't want him," we hear on every side, but a group of Washington personnel leaders do not agree. A meeting will be held in Washington on September 15, at which Howard Bruce, nationally-known Baltimore banker, will address them and explain what a group of Baltimore employers are now doing for men 45 to 65 years of age.

Mr. Bruce said in a recent speech: "The time has arrived when we must kill this prejudice against employing men over 45. Many men do not reach their maturity until 45 or over." Through his efforts and the efforts of other Baltimore employers, the Community Placement Bureau was organized, now handling about 150 cases a day.

One employer, typifying the new attitude, contacted the agency with: "Send me 20 men about 60 years of age. I'm not taking them on out of charity, but because there may be something in this idea of experienced men you don't have to break in."

A millwork concern asked for skilled employes of 45 years or over. "We can use," officials wrote, "and will be glad to employ bench hands and machine hands who have had previous experience in millwork. We shall be glad to interview any whom you recommend."

The director of the bureau, Harry W. Rolker, says that it has been found necessary along with job finding to combine social service work, including hospitalization, housing and legal aid.

One afternoon in the bureau's early days, a man walked into Rolker's office. His clothes were shabby, but he stood erect; he had a purposeful, but curiously uncertain, gait. He looked beyond Rolker rather than directly at him.

"I'm slowly going blind," he told the bureau director. "I've got a wife and four children; I've lost my job—and that's the story, I guess. Have you any answer? I've thought of just one, but that's such a spineless way out."

'I'll have some experts look you over," Rolker promised.

The experts said that little could be done. But at Johns Hopkins Wilmer Clinic a young doctor said that there were 1000 chances they were right; one chance that they were wrong. He operated, and today the man's eyesight is almost as good as ever. Through the bureau he found a job.

Some jobs, however, are distinctly young men's jobs, so the bureau attempts to fit a few of its clients for new vocations. A man can't always do this for himself and agencies are often indifferent.

Too, a good many chances at a job are lost through the applicant's poor appearance. Therefore, the bureau's clients receive a service which no other public employment agency is believed to duplicate. A man whose ragged clothes and general appearance are against him is allowed to seek work only when outfitted with a new suit of clothing. If his behaior is awkward he is schooled, much as a young stenographer is trained in office deportment. In one case a brief study of English was suggested.

Small human needs are not forgotten, either. During the first week on a new job a client receives carfare and lunch money.

Possibly the Washington meeting may mean the adoption of the Baltimore idea in a national plan. We need it!

FILLY FINDS RACING LEGS AT FOUR YEARS

By J. W. MARCHBANK

Marica can certainly be denominated the Seabiscuit of the fillies. She won races of small value as a two year old, ran in Class C handicaps as a three year old and this season as a four year old has scored in seven out of nine outings, in the best of company. That is certainly showing steady improvement.

The filly has been racing in the Chicago sector. She is by the French-bred Epinard from a Craigangower mare. It will be recalled that Epinard was in this country some years back in a series of what were termed "international contests," finishing second in each, being led to the wire successively by Ladkin, Wise Counselor and Sarazen.

Following his retirement from racing the "Spinach" stallion has been employed in the breeding paddock in the United States and abroad. Americans take some pride in the blood lines of Epinard, as he goes back on his top line to a horse bred in this country and taken to England by the well remembered Richard Ten Broeck. As is well known, Epinard is by Badajoz.

On the distaff side the successful progenitor is even more interesting, as his second dam, White Thorn, was by Nasturtium, a son of the Rancho del Paso Watercress.

John E. Madden pointed out that everything indicates that the American broodmare strains greatly assist English-bred stallions and that many an English stallion which has succeeded in America would probably have failed in England. He adds, however, that such sires as Meddler; the Belmont importation, Triple Crown winner Rock Sand; the J. B. Haggin importation, Watercress, and his own importation, Star Shoot, would have succeeded in either country, as they were among England's best.

One wonders what Marica, which is owned by Thomas D. Taggart of French Lick Springs, will do when sent into the breeding paddock following her strenuous career on the course. History shows some mares with scintillating records as racers turning out as good producers, but in many cases the racing has taken something out of the females that unfits them to become dams of high class performers. In quite a number of instances, where the mother fails, one or more daughters carry on in a very successful way.

New State Laws Affect Motorists

Motor traffic on California streets and highways must observe a number of new regulations beginning Friday, August 27, when enactments of the 1937 Legislature amending the State Vehicle Code became effective.

Summary of the new laws governing motor vehicle owners states that 562 bills affecting motorists were presented, many of the freak type, and that organized motordom succeeded in having the enactments reduced to the necessary and meritorious proposals.

The comparatively few code revisions were mainly technical, but one makes it compulsory to dim headlights, or rather to use the lower beams, when approaching within 500 feet of an oncoming car. Although this will require use of lower beams almost exclusively on city streets at night, it will materially increase safety there as well as on the open road.

New regulations on trailer coaches require a rear red reflector in addition to the usual tail light, clearly visible green clearance lights on both sides, and a mechanical or electrical signal device of an approved type on the car or trailer. House trailers weighing more than 1500 pounds must be equipped with adequate brakes to be operated by the driver of the towing vehicle.

A new rule prohibits California registration of vehicles not within the state, except that it permits regisration for factory deliveries of new cars.

Riding on parts of a vehicle not designed or intended for use of passengers, such as running boards, is now prohibited. An amendment changes the operator's license renewal period from two to four years, but the two-year period for chauffeur's license is retained.

The financial responsibility law was so amended that a person who has been required to furnish proof of financial responsibility for future accidents may be exempted from this restriction if it has been maintained for three years in which no serious offense has been committed.

A change regarding license applications of minors states that persons 18 or over who have been married shall not be classed as minors.

Another new provision requires broken safety glass in cars to be replaced with safety glass.

Permanent registration of publicly owned vehicles and retention of license plates from year to year is provided.

Persons involved in traffic accidents, or their representatives, are permitted to obtain information from police reports. For the past two years such reports have been classed as confidential, preventing access to them.

NEW KIND OF SHIPS

Madge: "Don't you sailors have a special ship where you get your hair cut? A sort of floating barber shop?"

Sailor: "No, there ain't no such ships in our fleet."

Madge: "Then what are these clipper ships I've heard so much about?"
—U. S. Reina Mercedes.

MOTORISTS RUN OUT OF GAS MUCH TOO FREQUENTLY

Empty gas tanks caused a greatly increased number of motorists to become stalled on the road last year, despite the fact that this trouble is one of the most easily preventable of all motoring difficulties.

This was pointed out in a statement by the Emergency Road Service of the California State Automobile Association, based upon figures from thousands of garages in all parts of the country under contract to respond to calls of members of A. A. A. clubs. The figures for 1936 showed an approximate total of 1,500,000 "out of gas" calls, an increase of nearly 50 per cent over the number of such calls in 1935.

"The surprising thing about this record," the association statement commented, "is that there are some 325,000 retail gasoline outlets in the nation, or about one for every mile of surfaced highway in the state systems, and every present-day car is equipped with a gasoline gauge which shows the fuel level at all times.

"Service records indicate, however, that many motorists still neglect to refill the tank when it runs low, and that their estimates of how far they can continue to drive on the remaining supply are frequently mistaken.

"Tire trouble is another frequent cause of delay, accounting for many emergency service calls. One of the main reasons for this is that motorists often try to get the 'last mile' out of old tires and continue to drive with such tires even after they are worn down into the fabric. Not only is this the cause of blow-outs, but it is additionally hazardous because of the tendency of smooth tires to skid on wet pavements."

BATTERY WATER

Overheating is one of the principal results of allowing water in the battery to get below the top of the plates.

When the battery solution is below the top of the plates a greater volume of electrical current is required to pass through the covered portion of the plates, resulting in overheating and rapid deterioration.

TO ANY CITY COUNCILMAN

If you would win the public's love,
And get shoved higher up above,
Sharpen up your knives and axes
And cut our way to lower taxes.
—Ed Scanlon in Buffalo Evening News.

Pedestrian Care Duty Of Motorist

"Remember those who go afoot," was the theme of a statement addressed to motorists recently by the Public Safety Department of the California State Automobile Association.

"There are two good reasons why thoughtful motorists respect the rights of pedestrians," the statement said. "First, good citizenship, courtesy, and the law demand it. These alone are reasons enough for anyone who wishes to be regarded as fair-minded and conscientious. Second, every motorist steps out of his car at times and becomes a pedestrian himself. Then the situation is reversed and the Golden Rule strikes home."

Rights as well as duties of pedestrians are clearly set forth in the California Vehicle Code, it was pointed out. Sections of law on the subject were summarized as follows:

Pedestrians have the right-of-way over all automobiles in marked or unmarked crosswalks. (Sec. 560, California Vehicle Code). An unmarked crosswalk is the prolongation of the sidewalk lines across the roadway. (Sec. 85).

Pedestrians who choose to cross the street where there is no crosswalk must yield the right-of-way to all vehicles. (Sec. 562, a). However, motorists are required by law to use due caution for the safety of "jaywalkers."

On the open highway pedestrians must walk on the left side of the roadway facing oncoming traffic. (Sec. 564).

"And for added safety," the statement concluded, "pedestrians out at night on the highways should carry a flashlight, lantern, or something white, either worn or carried, to command the attention of approaching motorists."

Similarity Of Two Cities Noticeable

Somehow, Sacramento reminds one of Albany, N. Y. Both are state capitals situated at some distance from the great cities. Both are historic places whose past makes them interesting to the state at large, and invites respect. Both are on navigable rivers, a night's run from a great seaport. And in both, there is a lingering tradition of a foreign influence—in Albany, the Dutch; in Sacramento, the Spanish—which, although it has ceased to have any important bearing on the daily life of the city, nevertheless makes for picturesqueness and variety of background.

NOT MERELY A NOISE

Piston slap is not merely an annoying noise. If it really is loud it is an indication of cylinder wall wear which should be stopped by adequate repair.

Another product of piston slap is dilution of the crankcase lubricant by gasoline permitted to seep down the cylinder wall on the worn side.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NEWS OF INTEREST

Superintendent Crane reports that the first two weeks of school have shown a decided and unexpectedly large increase over the enrollment of classes at the close of last term.

New students from every section of California, as well as from various sections outside of the state, have enrolled in the district for the new school year. This increased enrollment was met efficiently and expertly by the active administrative staff and the subsequent co-operation of the teachers. DALY CITY GIRL TO BE HOSTESS AT FLORAL FIESTA

While many Daly City girls are already taking part in the pageant, there are still many parts open—for dancers, singers, horsewomen and others—and everyone interested is urged to attend rehearsals.

Plans are under way to appropriate $75 to be offered in three classes for the best Spanish costumes at the fandango, huge ball preceding the Fiesta. The Fiesta fandango is set for September 18, at San Mateo Junior College gymnasium.

Starting Wednesday of this week, the entire county assumed a gay, festive air as mayors of most cities issued proclamations urging all residents to wear Spanish garb during the period until the Fiesta is over.

By September 9, Admission Day, it was believed that every person on the entire peninsula would be "costume-minded" and wearing some sort of appropriate garb.

HUSBANDS, IS THIS TRUE?
